Why care about dental care for your pet? Karen Albert, Founder and CEO, HealthyMouth, LLC

Dear Fellow Dog and Cat Lover,

Did you know that the health of your pet's mouth directly affects overall health, quality of life and even behaviour? A healthy mouth is the gateway to a healthy pet. This painful, progressive disease affects 80% of dogs and cats by the age of 1.5 years.

Perhaps most surprising to learn is that your pet's mouth acts and reacts exactly like yours, requiring annual examination and dental cleaning followed by daily home dental care. The critical difference is that animals suffer in silence and cannot take care of themselves.

Daily use of healthymouth™ acts as a physical barrier device, helping to keep teeth and gums clean by its physical action. The products contain no antimicrobial ingredients so normal oral flora is maintained. This is an enormous benefit. Coupled with professional cleaning, they work together as a comprehensive program. Definitely the best investment you will ever make for your best friend. I know first hand, as I almost lost my best friend from an unhealthy mouth.

My beloved, late Shih-Tzu, Ping-Pong, I adopted from a rescue while living in Paris. We traveled the world together. But I missed something so important that it could have shortened her life and I couldn't imagine not having Ping-Pong in my life. Looking back now all the signs were there, she had bad breath for years, but I didn't sense that she was in pain. When she started slowing down I figured it was a result of aging. I never thought to look in her mouth.

I received my wake-up call when Ping-Pong was seven years old. My new veterinarian, back in the states, looked into Ping-Pong's mouth and was aghast. If not given care, contamination would soon spread across her blood stream, and likely result in a premature death. I was devastated and felt very guilty. I worried that she would never be the same.

After the dental and extractions she wasn't the same. She was a new dog! I knew this was only the first step. To keep her mouth clean and healthy, I would have to partner with my veterinarian and take an active role in her daily dental care. My mission became to not only create a more effective, safer and simpler daily topical solution for all pets, but to educate their owners about this often overlooked critical part of pet care.

And healthymouth™ was born.

Ping-pong was my personal testimonial to its amazing results. At the age of seventeen years young, using healthymouth™ every day in conjunction with annual veterinary cleaning (yes, even at these senior years, performed under anesthesia) she had a healthy mouth. She had more energy, a stronger immune system and was in far better overall health than at age seven. I knew it was a DIRECT result of the health of her mouth. Ping-Pong was and remains forever my success story.

What is periodontal disease?

Periodontal disease is a very common and often painful experience for dogs and cats. It is caused by plaque – not tartar.

- Plaque is a sticky film of bacteria forming a sticky film that builds up on your pet's teeth
- The bacteria in plaque cause tooth decay and gum disease eventually ending in tooth loss, if accumulation is not prevented and treated.
- Once periodontal disease is present it can't be reversed. It often leads to the extraction of teeth which is painful, causing discomfort for your pet & costly vet bills.
- It is much easier to prevent periodontal disease than to manage it once established.
- After a dental procedure plaque can start to accumulate rapidly within a few hours, if nothing is done to prevent the plaque build-up.

Daily home plaque control is essential to keep your beloved pet's mouth healthy and reduce vet dental bills.
